

Oct-Dec 2025

As we complete the magical milestone of 7 years, we're excited to share an important update:

📌 Monkey Sports is officially becoming KhelMel.

Changing our name after seven years is a bold decision, but one that comes from deep reflection. We wanted our identity to represent what our work has truly evolved into, using play to build emotional strength, empathy, and positive childhood experiences.

Manotsava - National Mental Health Festival!

Our team conducted a 1.5-hour workshop on using rural sports like Kho-Kho to improve the mental and physical well-being of children

Two of our facilitators Kushal Agarwal and Tanuja Sahu, also attended workshops across both days, learning from experts and connecting with people working in different areas of mental health from across India.

We completed the second training under our project in Golaghat, Assam!

Our trainers, Tripti Yadav and Tanuja Sahu, conducted a two-day session on Gender and Sport, focusing on the common challenges faced on the field.

The training aimed to introduce participants to the Sport for Development (S4D) approach and equip them with the necessary skills to engage children in safe, inclusive, and fun sporting environments.

We had the opportunity to conduct two separate one-hour sessions at FLAME University, Pune, where we spoke about our work at KhelMel (Monkey Sports) — covering program outreach, impact, limitations, and challenges.

conducting surveys with children and how we support children who face different adversities at home.

Fundraising in the Community

In any work we do, whether for profit or for social good, the real impact is measured by the value we create for people. One important part of that value is how much people are willing to pay for that service.

With this belief, we have launched a community fundraising campaign for our upcoming Annual Community Event.

A sense of belonging, connection, and community.

This was done entirely by the children without any intervention from us. They took the initiative and made it happen. It shows that when children are provided with a safe space to learn and grow, they discover a deeper purpose

Support our program with children in the community.
